BIOGRAPHY

Jason Adamsky is a Senior Associate at Conrad & Scherer's Fort Lauderdale office, where he plays a vital role in the firm's complex commercial litigation practice. Known for his ability to navigate challenging legal landscapes, Jason brings a nuanced, strategic approach to each case, drawing from years of experience across high-stakes litigation environments.

Before joining Conrad & Scherer, Jason worked with some of the largest insurance companies in the United States, defending their policyholders in significant personal injury cases. This experience has equipped him with a strong foundation in defense strategies, which he now leverages to advocate for his clients in commercial litigation. Jason's background provides him with unique insights into risk assessment, legal defense, and litigation management, all of which contribute to his well-rounded approach in representing businesses and individuals facing complex disputes.

In his current role, Jason's responsibilities include conducting detailed legal research, drafting and filing key motions, managing discovery processes, taking depositions, attending hearings and trials, and overseeing case preparation from start to finish. His problem-solving approach is tailored to each client's unique needs, allowing him to deliver effective, outcome-focused strategies that align with their business objectives. Whether coordinating with expert witnesses, preparing clients for deposition, or developing arguments for trial, Jason ensures that each case is managed with meticulous attention to detail and a clear, strategic direction.

Jason's legal expertise is matched by his commitment to strong client advocacy, providing guidance that helps clients make informed decisions at every stage of the litigation process. His dedication to achieving positive results makes him a dependable advocate in the complex realm of commercial litigation.
